SURFACE TECHNOLOGY

Against the risk of infection serious problem of the 21st century, developed products with antibacterial features are the reason why conscious consumers prefer to be protected from infectious diseases.

The use of antibacterial products is of great importance for health, especially in public areas due to lack of hygienic toilet with common places, Diphtheria, Hepatitis A- B, urinary tract infection, influenza etc.

Antibacterial products that provide lifetime protection to prevent bacteria growth, due to its high hygienic and antibacterial products, which are effective against easily infectious diseases, do not allow the formation of bacteria.

It is easy to breed when they find a suitable environment and the bacteria that develop are the source of many diseases that can not be cured if measures are not taken. Therefore, the preference of antibacterial products lowers the risk of getting infectious diseases. The products developed by İdevit Ceramic with antibacterial glaze provide permanent hygiene. It also provides high water and energy savings thanks to its ability to be easily cleaned with much less water without the need for chemical cleaning materials.
